

Brought to you by
The League of Revolutionaries for a New America, Chicago Chapter

COVID, WHITE SUPREMACY, AND ECOLOGICAL CRISIS

Our presenters will introduce evidence that the industrial revolution vastly accelerated the disruption of earth's "metabolism" ~the interaction of all life forms on earth~ and that the economic and social forces behind that disruption are the same forces that have fostered the twin pandemics of racism and COVID 19. Activists from various social movements will respond to the presentation from their own experiences, and the viewers will have the opportunity to engage in discussing how united action on the problems of our time can help transform the world.

Joyce Mills

Oakland, Cali. retired Public Health Nurse, Labor Party founding member, California Nurses Association's "Just Health-Care" campaign lead organizer, and long-term LRNA member and Institute for Society and Revolution teacher.

Patrick Baranovskis

Chicago environmental and sustainable agriculture advocate and Chicago Homeless for the Union activist. A revolutionary writer and musician who plays bass in the bands OneLove and Cider Provider.

Virtual Discussion
Saturday, May 29
1p.m. to 3p.m. CDT

REGISTER NOW
HTTP://BIT.LY/LRNAMAY29